

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A memory card reader which has a housing having at least a slot for receiving a memory card, wherein the housing is formed with a chamber for receiving at least a memory card, the chamber being provided with a cover
5 adapted to be engageable with the chamber thereby enabling the chamber to be opened or closed as required, whereby no additional space is required for carrying a container for receiving memory cards, the memory card can be prevented from losing or being damaged, and an additional value can be yielded to the memory card reader.